

CALL FOR PAPERS

Special Session on Recent progress in human factors

IECON 2018 - The 44th Annual Conference of the IEEE Industrial Electronics Society
October 21-23, 2018, Washington D.C, USA

TOPIC OF THE SPECIAL SESSION

The area of human factors focuses on the fit between users, equipment, and environment. Rapid progress in and wide applications of human factors theory, methods, and technologies have been made across a wide range of disciplines. This special session provides a place for researchers and engineers discussing and exchanging new results and ideas pertaining to human factors and related areas.

Topics of the Session

- Aging
- Ambient intelligence
- Health-care system
- Human-system interaction
- Human-support system
- Human understanding
- Human performance and modelling
- Industrial engineering
- Man-machine interface
- Mechatronics and control
- Robotics
- Sensing and recognition
- User-centered design

IEEE IES Technical Committee Sponsoring the Special Session:
IES Technical Committee on Human Factors (TC-HF)

ORGANIZED AND CO-CHAIRLED BY

Organizer 1: Jinhua She, Chair of Technical Committee on Human Factors.
she@stf.teu.ac.jp, Tokyo University of Technology, Japan

Organizer 2: Sho Yokota, Vice-Chair of Technical Committee on Human Factors.
s-yokota@toyo.jp, Toyo University, Japan

Organizer 3: Xiangdong Liu, xdliu@bit.edu.cn, Beijing Institute of Technology, China
